An Unwalled City (Paperback)

By Genevieve Betts

Prolific Press, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 203 x 127 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .About the poet: Genevieve Betts grew up in Tempe, AZ. She currently lives and writes in Brooklyn, NY. Betts has been published in NANO Fiction, Poetry Quarterly, The Bakery, Digital Americana, and Mom Egg Review. An Unwalled City is her debut book! Whether writing of childbirth, caring for an adventurous pet tarantula as a child in Arizona, or reading Sendak's A is for Alligator to her son as, on the other side of the wall next door, a murder-suicide unfolds in Brooklyn, Genevieve Betts is an empiricist of the im/material world, crossing real borders in that imaginary country called memory, traveling across states lines of the mind and heart. An Unwalled City opens with an epigraph from Epicurus about life being a city without walls of protection from death, and in wry, stark poems, Betts observes life and death in the balance with a keen and unblinking eye. How will death come for me? one speaker, a new mother after a hard birthing, asks. The answer is startling and fresh: like a giant black-eyed moth /...
